PURROY AND MARTIN BIDE. TAMMANY RE-ELECTS THE CHAIR-MEN OF HER COMMITTEES.

VOL. LXII.-NO. 347.

The Plan to Substitute Sheehan and Keenan Withdrawn-the Old Engineers Remain on Post-Batton-Belancy Case Put Over to Aug. 26-Engel's Republican Recruit,

Tammany Hall is reorganized. There are new faces in the General Committee. The ranks have been recruited by accessions of Democrats who are not particularly pleased with the present so-called Reform administration. The rank and file is not exactly what it has been, but the same old Generals who have led the braves to victory in times past are still in command. Henry D. Purroy is Chairman of the Committee on Organization again, and James J. Martin Chairman of the Executive Committee. The organization was completed last night when the Committee on Organization, following the example of the General Committee, elected the same officers that the committee for 1894 had, and the Executive Committee, which will be known hereafter as the Tammany Committee of Seventy, chose the same men for Chairman and Secretaries who acted in that capacity

There had been a movement on foot for a change among the officers of these two committees. It was thought by some men in the organization that it would be well to have a Chairman for the Committee on Organization and also for the Executive Committee. Ex-Police Commissioner John C. Sheehan had been suggested by the advocates of this proposition for Chairman of the Committee on Organization, and Patrick Keenan, the leader in the Sixteenth district, for the Chairmanship of the Executive Committee. Soon after these propositions were made it was discovered that to carry them out would probably occasion contests in both committees, and some of the more conservative leaders in the organization set about to prevent anything of this sort. They argued that the enemies of Tammany Hall were only too ready to make the most of any contest which might be precipitated: that it would be declared that the leaders in Tammany were at odds, and that the mere suggestion of a quarrel between leaders of the organization might be hurtful.

Mr. Keenan had no desire for ah Cairmanship. and promptly declined to accept one when he learned that his name had been suggested. There was a good deal of scurrying about and caucusing by the leaders before the Committee on Organization met last night, and as a result it was decided to accept the conservative advice referred to, and withdraw Mr. Sheehan as a candidate for the Chairmanship of that commit tee. Accordingly, when the committee met, the programme of conciliation and conservatism was promptly carried out. It was lucky for some of the braves present that this was done. for the basement of Tammany Hall last night was comparable to the flery furnace of Scripture, which was heated seven times hotter than the wont. Despite the heat the meeting room was unusually crowded. The enthusiasm and interest of the members of the organization were

"It might almost be said that the organizat on was being tried as by fire," suggested Asso ciate Leader Robert D. Petty of the Seventeenth Assembly district, as he piled his handkerchief

Weide he was greeted voriferously by his special partisans. He made the shortest sort of a speech of thanks, in which he said that, owing to the sultry weather, he believed the best return he could make for the honor conferred was to proceed promptly with the business of the meeting. Credent also were presented from all lot the Eleventh and Thirty-fourth Assembly districts, in which there are contests, and the roll was called. Ex-Police Justice Daniel F. McMahon moved the appointment of the Committee on Organization, out withdrew it at the request of ex-Senator George W. Plunkitt, who between gasps for a breath of fresh air suggreeted that the greatest service to be done to the 1 emocratic party in this city was to dispense with formality and make the temporary organization permanent. On his motion this was done with a whoop. Under the rulesthree vice-Chairmen, a Treasurer, and a Sergeant-at-Armshad to be chosen, and on motion of ex-Mayor throy they were elected as follows: Vice-Chairmen, George W. Plunkitt, Thaddeus Moriarity, and Charles F. Allen; Treasurer, John McQuade; Sergeant-at-Arms, Hobert Kelly.

John McQuade; Sergeanty Clerk Scully the Kelly. On motion of Deputy County Clerk Scully the On motion of Deputy County Clerk Scully the rules of the old committee were adopted, and or motion of ex-County Clerk Keenan it was de-cided that the Executive Committee should consist of two members from each Assembly district, and the Chairmen of the General Committee, the Committee on Organization, the Finance Committee, the Committee on Printing, and the Committee on Resolutions and Correspondence.

Mittee, the Committee on Organization, the Finance Committee, the Committee on Printing, and the Committee on Resolutions and Correspondence.

The names of the members of the Executive Committee from the several Assembly districts were announced on motion of Coroner Fitzpatrick. Three changes were noticed in the list of associate leaders as published last week. Exassembly man Thomas J. O'Donnell is the associate of ex-Police Justice Bernard F. Martin in the Fifth district. Senator Timothy D. Suillvan reported a vacancy in his district. The greatest surprise, however, was furnished by Leader Martin Engel of the Eighth district. Ex-Assemblyman John E. Brodsky was originally selected for associate leader in that district. At last night's meeting Henry J. Goldsmith, Engel's lieutenant, announced that Edward J. Sparenberg was a Republican. He organized last fall the John J. O'Brien Association of the Third Assembly district in opposition to the organization similarly named, which was controlled in the interests of Tammany Hall by Bernard Rourke. In its declaration of principles Mr. Sparenberg's association said that It was composed of men who had always been Republicans, and that they did not propose to be led into the Democratic party by Mr. Bernard Rourke. Snarenberg and his friends worked and voted for the reform ticket usst fall, and after its election began to look for spoils. Sparenberg was a frequent visitor at Mayor Strong's office, and had many favors to ask. About all that he succeeded in getting from Mayor Strong's office, and had many favors to ask. About all that he succeeded in getting from Mayor Strong however, was the appointment as City Marshal of the Secretary of his John J. O'Brien Association, Henry Loewy, Mr. Sparenberg is a nawnbroker in Grand street, and has a good deal of political influence in that section.

As soon as the Executive Committee was named the panting braves made a rush for the Eirect and fresh air. The new members of the Executive Committee met un stairs immediately after the a was not filled.

There is nothing in the organization of the several Tammany Hall committees indicative of who will be the leader of the organization unless it is the fact that the continuance of the same men in the Executive Committee who were there last year would seem to show that Mr. Richard Croker can direct the political fortunes of the organization if he so desires. His friends still seem to be in a majority in the Executive Committee.

friends still seem to be in a majority in the Executive Committee.

The secone of the fight between the warring Tammany factions in the Eleventh Assembly district was transferred yesterday afternoon to Tammany Hall. Hundreds of the partisans of Tammany Hall. Hundreds of the partisans of Leader Daiton and John J. Delany, who is after Daiton's political scale, gathered at the wig-warn about 4 octock to testify as witnesses before the Committee on Contested Seats regarding the alleged unfairness of the primary held on Aug. 1, when the Daiton ticket was elected. After a consultation with his colleagues of the committee Chairman William Pitt Mitchell announced that the hearing in the case of both districts would be postponed until Aug. 26 at 1 P. M.

MAREL STANLEY A PRISONER. An American Charged in London with Steal ing $3,900 Worth of Jewels.

LONDON, Aug. 12.-A tall, dark, and stylishly dressed American woman, about 30 years old, known as Mabel Stanley, alias Mc Lean, alias Millet, alias Vaugho, was remanded in the Bow street police court this moning, charged with stealing jewelry valued at £587 from Mrs. Gibbons of London, with whom she had lodged for a month. She was arrested on the steamer Etruria at Liverpool on Saturday, as she was about to sail for New York. The detective who made the arrest testified that when he read the warrant to the prisoner she admitted that she had taken some of the jewelry out of revenge. All the jewels were recovered.

Mrs. Gibbons, whose social status is not clear, occupies a flat in Ridgemount Gardens. She became acquainted with Mabel Stanley then passing under the name of Millet, six weeks ago, when Miss Stanley became boarder in her flat, paying three guineas week ly. Mrs. Gibbons went out on July 22, leav ing Miss Stanley and a servant in the flat. The prosecution alleges that Miss Stanley induced the servant to go out a little white after Mrs. Gibbons's departure. Soon afterward Mrs. Gibbons and Miss Stanley went shopping together, and when they returned Miss Stanley said that a quantity of her jewelry had disappeared, adding that she bellieved it had been taken by thieves. At her suggestion Mrs. Gibbons examined her safe, which was found empty. Miss Stanley unexpectedly went to Brighton on July 27, after which Mrs. Gibbons received an anonymous typewritten letter advising her to ascertain the nature of a parcel left by her woman friend at the Savoy Hotel. The manager of the hotel identified a photograph of Miss Stanley as that of the woman who had removed a parcel that had been deposited in the hotel safe. A warrant for the arrest of Miss Stanley was it they found that she had left Brighton for London. The police here were notified by telegraph and a man was sent to Victoria Station to arrest her upon her arrival. She did not come to London, and it is presumed that she left the train at Croydon. The Liverpool police were informed of the facts and they kept a watch for Miss Stanley. They found that the had booked a passage on the Etruria for New York, and they went aboard the steamer and arrested her.

When the prisoner was arraigned she described herself as a music hall artist. She has an elive complexion and black hair. She acted coolly throughout the proceedings.

DENBY AND CARPENTER REPORT. As Usual, China Is Promising Foreigners

Protection and Redress, WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.- Apprehension at the State and Navy departments for the safety of American missionaries in China las leen allayed greatly by several official despatches with reassuring information. Minister Denby has secured a promise of redress for past outrages and the future protection of American missionaries; and Rear Admiral Carpenter, commanding the United States naval forces in China, has taken steps toward providing adequate means of suppressing any further outbreak.

Several cablegrams were received to-day Assembly district, as he piled his handkerchief on his humid brow.

Delegates to the Council of the Improved Order of Red Men helped to swell the crowd. The council had hired rooms for its sessions in Tammany Hail, but these rooms were up stairs. Many of the deferates, however, wandered into the council of the Ancient Order of Tammany Red Men in the basement.

Ex-Police Commissioner James J. Martin, as Chairman of the old Executive Committee, called the new Committee on Organization to order. The first indication that theoproposition to elect ex-Police Commissioner Sheehan Chairman of the committee on Organization to order. The first indication that theoproposition to elect ex-Police Commissioner Sheehan Chairman of the committee lad been abandoned came when Mr. Martin named as the temporary officers of the committee County Clerk Henry D. Purroy for Chairman and John B. McGoldrick, William H. McDonough, and John G. H. Meyers for Secretaries. looting of American missionary property at Yungfuh, near Foo Chow. Mr. Denby says he stated the facts to the Board of Foreign Affairs on the 10th and obtained a promise of protection and redress. Yungfuh is be-lieved by the officers of the State Department to be the same as Sungfuh, Fuppak, and Ing-hok, mentioned in the press telegram, the variations of the name being due, doubtless, to erroneous transmission.

The Navy Department to-day cabled Admiral Carpenter again regarding matters in China, advising him to keep in close and constant communication with Minister Denby.

FREE COINAGE DEMOCRATS.

The Conference Called by Senators Harris, Jones, and Turple to Meet To-morrow. WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.-The conference of ree coinage Democrats, called by Senators Harris of Tennessee, Jones of Arkansas, and l'urpie of Indiana, will be held in Washington on Wednesday, and may extend over that and the next day. Senator Harris will probably be Chairman of the conference, and Casey Young of Memphis will be its secretary. Several of those who will be present are in Washington, and are hopeful that thirty States will be represented. Senator Harris, who reached Washington on Saturday, said to-day that a large attendance was not desirable; On the contrary, it had been expressly requested that a few prominent men from each State should come. These men, said the Senator, would be Democrats of weight and influence, and acceptable to members of the party as the possible composi-tion of an Executive Committee. The Senator-aid he expected important results from the conference, which would be more in the nature of a business meeting than of a convention. He could not tell at this time, however, what scope the meeting would take beyond the objects out-lined in the call signed by Messrs, Jones, Turple, and himself.

A HOLMES CASE IN WASHINGTON.

Two Negroes Arrested on Suspicion of Having Killed a Boy for His Insurance. Washington, Aug. 12.—This afternoon Charles Hammond, 27 years old, and Rose Hammond, aged 28, both colored, were arrested on suspicion of having murdered Campbell Hall, a ten-year-old stepbrother of Hammond's. The boy was insured in the Metropolitan Insurance Company for $60, and was listed in two other insurance associations for small sums. An autopsy made of the body of the boy this evening developed the fact that death was not due to natural causes. Scars to the number of fitteen were found on the boy's back and breast, and some of them were an inch and a half in length. The examination also showed that no food had been eaten by the boy for some time. An inquest will be held to-morrow morning, it is said by the police that some months ago another boy who lived with the couple died suddenly under mysterious circumstances, it is believed his life was insured for $200.

Col. Waring's Offices Moved

Col. Waring's white-topped men will no longer be seen around the corridors of the Criminal Courts building. The offices of the department have finally been removed to the top floor of the old General Sessions building in City Hall

Park.
Col. Waring was not in town during the morning. He divides his time between New York and Newport, giving 3½ days to each. To New York he gives Tucaday, Wednesday, Thursday, and half of Friday.

OFF THE ELEVATED TRACK. ARTIST KEMBLE ROBBED.

MAKES A SKETCH OF THE THIEF'S FOOTPRINT ON HIS PORCH.

With This Art Work as a Cine and the Aid of a Small Boy He and Three Policemen Run Down the Thief, but the Thief Draws a Pistol and Makes His Escape-The Stolen Property Recovered.

No; this is not a Trilby picture. It is the latest drawing by Mr. E. W. Kemble, the well-known artist and illustrator, and was never before published. While it shows, per-haps, a lack of fine finish, its freedom and breadth of treatment are notable, and it is full of character. The original picture is a charcoal drawing from life on the front porch of Mr. Kemble's house in New Rochelle, and there are a number of replicas about the premises. Mr. Kemble calls it "An Impression of a Fleeting Visitor." The original who stood for the drawing (if he had sat for it there wouldn't have been any) when last seen was covering magnificent distances at a record-demolishing pace with Mr. Kemble and the village constabulary in hot pursuit. They haven't caught him yet. It was about 7 o'clock yesterday morning that Mr. Kemble's eye first fell upon the footprint. His artistic soul stirred within him.

"Here," said he, "is an impression fresh from nature's laboratory. How Beardsley-like those How bold and striking the curve of that big toe! How delicate the sloping line that curves away to the heel! Where is my charcoal? I must preserve this masterpiece.

Eagerly he worked at the tracing until it stood forth in decorative beauty upon the flooring of the porch. Then he went indoors and found the silver was stolen. Now, Mr. Kemble is not alone an artist; he is a keen-witted person who comes to conclusions rapidly. His conclusion in this particular case was that the footprint which he had just sketched was undoubtedly left by the man who got his silver. He walked about the yard and found other prints left by bare feet, besides two deeply indented boot marks, where ome one had stood for some time motionless. Reason told the artist that one man wearing oots had kept watch outside, while the oth er, barefooted, had reconnoitred about the porch before finding a place to get in. A forced lock in the dining room window showed where en-trance had been made. To copy off the footprint on to a clean sheet of paper was but a few minutes' work. With this anthropometric evidence he went to Police Headquarters to communicate with the police. The police admired. Yes, it was a very pretty drawing, they said, but- Nevertheless, three of them came up to the house and went over the premises care fully, besides making investigation in neighboring parts of Rochelle Park. One other house had evidently been tried by the burglars, for a dining-room chair was found on Mr. John Jones's lawn beneath a window of a room where Mr. Jones seldom if ever dines. The local constabulary concluded that the burgon Mr. John Jones's lawn beneath a window of a room where Mr. Jones seldom if ever dines. The local constabulary concluded that the burgilars had attempted an entrance, but were frightened away. This was probably the fact, as persons in the house were up all night tryff ing not to listen to the thunder storm which raged furiously there. From the Joneses' the place. After they reached the stone-lined roads bed their tracks ceased to be apparent.

While the three policemen were wandering about with the study in criminal pedal characteristics for clue, two small boys always do, came over to Mr. Kemble's to say that two strange men, one of whom had carried a bag, had gone down the park about an hour before. One of the men was tall, well built, and dark, and wore a straw hat and a heat black suit. His companion had a reddish moustache, was thick set, and dressed in light cothes. The policemen then recollected that two men of this description had been seen around town frequenting the saloons for a day or two. One of them called himself Pop Hines, taking the name of a character in town whom he somewhat resembled.

It was about 1 o'chick when the news of the two was received. Mr. Kemble, the three policemen, and several neighbors set out down the park. At the end slands Nathan Barrett's house. As the searching party came to it aman a carrying a large bag came out. Sub-equently, they found that he and another man with a reddish moustache had been inquiring about a harness which was advertised for sale and had evinced a great interest in the house, asking the saloons are reddish moustache had been inquiring about a harness which was advertised for sale and had evinced a great interest in the house, asking the saloons are reddish moustache had been inquiring about a harness which was advertised for sale and had evinced a great interest in the house, asking the saloons are reddish moustache had been inquiring about a harness which was advertised for sale and had evinced a great interest in the house, asking the saloons are

"That's my own private business," replied the Open it up," commanded the officer. "We'll "Open it up," commanded the officer. "We'll see whose business it is."

"See that," returned the other, and the policeman came to an abrupt hait. "That" was a very hig revolver pointed directly at Kelly's head. Kelly saw it very distinctly; quite intensely, in fact, so that his eyes crossed in the earnestness of his gaze.

"It's loaded," continved the stranger, in most convincing tones: "but it won't be long if you make any break."

As he spoke he slowly backed away. Kelly.

convincing tones; "but it won't be long if you make any break."

As he spoke he slowly backed away. Kelly, his fellow officers. Mr. Kemble, and the neighbors stood and watched him with almost painful interest. Slowly he went, still keeping his weapon loaded until he reached the fence. This he vaulted and ran for the woods. With a shout the others went after him. Kelly wasn't more than seventy-five yards behind, and Mr. Kemble, who is a good runner and was arrayed for the chase, being clad in a bicycling costume with light shoes and sweater, soon was abreast of the officer. The others tailed out behind. But fast as they could run they could gain but a little on the burglar. It was a perceptible gain, however, and those in the rear shouted to the artist and the policeman:

"You've got him; he's getting winded. Keep it up."

however, and those in the rear shouted to the artist and the policeman:

"You've got him; he's getting winded. Keep it up."

Mr. Kemble felt in his pocket for his pistol, in case it should be needed when close quarters were reached. But close quarters were reached. But close quarters weren't destined to be reached. As he came to a stiff fence the burglar flung the bag to which he had clung far away from him, cleared the fence in beautiful style, and put on a burst of sized that made his pursuers sick. They struggled manfully to keep up, but he led them a bitter chase. Through woods and swamps he went, ploughing sure-footedly through a brooklet, which subsequently brought grief to two of the chasers, plunging in and out of thickets, and, finally, pushing up a steep hill that brok Officer Kelly's heart and left Mr. Kemble burdly enough breath when he reached the top to revile his own til luck. For the fuzzitive had disappeared. Below lay a noble expanse of land, dotted with thickets and shaded with patches of woodland such as should have delighfed any artistic eye. But to hear Artist Kemble's reflections on the subject one might have supposed that an arid plain, without sign of vegetation, was his litea of what a land-scape should be. Somewhere in the thickets or woods the burglar was hidden; but there was too much of it to search, and the artist, the constabulary, and the neighbors, who had lost interest in the later stages of the run, turned sadily homeward. On the way they picked up the bag. It contained all of the stolen Kemble silverware, worth about $100.

Mr. Kemble's final copy of "Impression of a Fleeting Visitor" now ornaments the New Rochelle police station. It makes a good companion piece to a sketch of his mode two years ago, the first of a series to be called. "Persons Who Have Most Influenced Me." The man depicted in this fine drawing came into Mr. Kemble's bedroom one night and influenced him to give up a gold watch, a roll of bills, and other little keepsakes. It was just a plain six shooter. Aft

FORT SMITH, Ark., Aug. 12.-Cherokee Bill was sentenced this morning by Judge Parker to be hanged on Sept. 10. He is now under two sentences of death. The Supreme Court has stayed one sentence for investigation. Three weeks later, from the same scaffold at a single drop, Mrs. Kittenring, George Washington, Richard Calhoun, John Alison, Ell Lucas, and Frank Car-ver are to be hanged, all for murder.

Lawyer Mussey Scared from in Front of Motor, but Still Seeks Death,

Norman S. Mussey, 29 years old, a lawyer, having an office at 40 Wall street and living in the house of Dr. Robert Newman, at 64 West Thirty-sixth street, attempted suicide last evening by jumping from the structure of the Sixth avenue elevated road at Twenty-second street.

Mussey is a slim young man, with dark com plexion and moustache. He got off a Harlem train at the Twenty-third street up-town sta tion at 8:35 o'clock, and inquired of the ticket agent, H. J. Stever, about a package of drugs which he said he had lost on a train some time

Mussey was highly excited, and Stever says he ooked as if he were under the influence of some drog. He asked Stever to telegraph to the lost and found department and ask them to keep the package of drugs for him if it was found. Stever told him to call at the lost property clerk's office, at 39 Murray street.

Mussey went down to the street, but returned at 9 o'clock. He inquired again about his lost drugs. Then he bought a ticket an i sat outside on a bench near the south end of the station. Ticket Chopper Bagley of the down-town station called across to Ticket Chopper Kirke of the up-town station and asked Kirke to relieve him for a few moments.

Kirke crossed over to the down-town station

No sooner had he done so than Mussey jumped from the platform and ran down town on the up track. Kirke noticed him as he neared Twenty-second street. A locomotive without any cars attached was coming up the track, The headlight flashed on Mussey and Ticketchopper Kirke yelled at the top of his voice. He apparently scared Mussey, who jumped off into the street just as the engine went by.

He fell in a heap on the pavement, but was up on his feet in a moment and chasing a Sixth avenue car. Roundsman McTeague and Policemen Behr and Birmingham heard Kirke yell and saw Mussey fall.

They caught him just as he dropped in the street a second time. He was unable to stand on his feet because his left ankle was fractured. He was taken to the New York Hospital in an ambulance, An empty bottle with a poison label was found in his pocket. He would not tell why he had jumped off the track nor would he give any information about himself. His identity was discovered from letters in his pocket.

At Dr. Newman's house it was said that Mussey had lived there with his mother up to two weeks ago, but that they knew little about him. Mussey's father died recently, and it is believed that this affected his mind.

RIOT AT WINSTON, N. C. Negroes Gather to Prevent a Lynching-

Militia Called Out -150 Shots, WINSTON, N. C., Aug. 12. A row between whites and blacks, which came near terminatng seriously, occurred here last night. The trouble originated over a report given out at about 9 o'clock at all the colored churches to the effect that a crowd of whites were going to negroes, to the number of 300, marched to the fail, where they remained for several hours. They were armed with pistols and guns. Mayor Gray addressed them, assuring them that there was no danger of lynching, and begging them ished. The City Council, in session to-day, in-structed Mayor Gray to order a Gatling gun from Charlotte and to ask the authorities to furnish a man to operate it. The Mayor, Chief of Police, and Sheriff were also instructed to make all necessary arrangements for the protection of the city to-night and to procure all arms and ammunition needed.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 12,-A Gatling gun under a detachment of men left here this evening for Winston. So far as is known here at a late hour to-night all is quiet there. The Sheriff believes that the trouble is under control. A large force of special policemen has been sworn in for to-night.

POLICEMAN PRISONER IN SALOON.

Locked in by the Proprietor-His Captain Peter Coleman, who keeps a saloon at 1,455 Park avenue, had his side door open on Sunday evening. Policeman James F. Harmon got in and found three or four men drinking. Harmon says that Coleman grabbed him by the throat and tried to put him out, but changed his mind and locked the side door. Harmon waited until a boy came to the side door for a pint of beer. Coleman opened the wicket and said he wasn't selling.

"Better look out," said the boy, "there's a oliceman outside." Hearing this, Harmon blew his whistle and Policeman Kelly responded. The policeman within and the policeman without held a conference through the slide, and Kelly went off to the station house after Capt. Westervelt, Westervelt broke open the door and arrested Coleman. The saloon keeper was held at the Harlem court for assault and for violating the Excise law.

The affidavits presented in support of the application set forth that the bowling has become a nulsance and makes life miserable for the neighbors. Justice Gaynor, in denying the motion, said:

"I won't decide that a bowling alley is a nuisance. I know all about them. A bowling alley is a seful place, and a great benefit to the community. I know that even old men take pleasure in bowling. I won't decide it a nuisance until the case is tried."

KNOCKED FROM HER WHEEL

MRS. SHIPMAN RUN DOWN BY A TRUCK IN SECOND AVENUE.

She and Her Husband Were Riding Bieyeles-Mr. Shipman Piloted and Rang a Warning to a Truck Crossing at Fourteenth Street, but the Driver Did Not Stop - Mrs. Shipman's Leg Crushed, Mrs. Shipman, the wife of Andrew J. Shipman, a member of the law firm of Blandy, Mooney & Shipman of 15 Wall street, who lives at 55 Lenox avenue, was run into and badly injured by a truck driven by Michael Dona-hoe of 217 East Twenty-sixth street, while she was riding a bicycle yesterday afternoon at Fourteenth street and Second avenue. Her husband, who was riding a short distance in advance of her, escaped without injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Shipman learned to ride the bicycle early in the season, and in time they became enthusiastic over the sport. It was their custom to ride together, and nearly every day they made long excursions on their wheels. They had ridden a great deal in the crowded streets of the city, but never, until yesterday, did either one of them meet with any accident of consequence,

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon they started on their bicycles from their home in Lenox avenue, intending to ride to Peck slip to take the evening boat for Shelter Isl-and. They were dressed in the conventional bicycle costumes, Mr. Shipman wearing gray knickerbookers, a white outing shirt, and a gray cap. Mrs. Shipman wore a light shirt waist and a short skirt. Both had their jackets strapped to the handles of their machines. They chose Second avenue as the most direct route and because of its asphalt paving.

As was his usual custom, Mr. Shipman rode about twelve feet in advance of his wife so that he might keep a lookout for wagons approaching from side streets. As he rode by Fourteenth street he was about three feet west of the west car track on Second avenue and his wife was fully fifteen feet behind him. As he looked west into Fourteenth street he saw a horse attached to an uncovered baggage truck coming swiftly down the car tracks to ward him. He rang his bell and passed on thinking that the driver of the truck would be attracted by the sound and slow up.

Mrs. Shipman also rang her bell and at tempted to cross in front of the truck. The driver apparently paid no attention to the warning, and the result was a collision. The front wheel of the truck struck the metal guard over the rear wheel of the bicycle. turning the machine violently to one side The force of the impact broke the thin wire spokes of the hicycle wheel.

Mrs. Shipman was hurled violently to the ground beneath the baggage truck. Her head struck the edge of the car track, cutting a deep gash in the scalp directly over her left ear, and one of the rear wheels of the heavy truck passed over her right thigh about fiv lynch Arthur Tuttle, who is being tried here for | inches above the knee. The blow on her head the murder of Policeman Vickers last May. The | rendered her unconscious, and she lay in the roadway with blood streaming from the wound. Policeman Cronin of the East Fifth street station, who was at the corner, heard the shout of the driver and saw the wagon pass > him to a standstill. In the meantime Mr. Shipman had ridden dozen feet past the corner. Happening to glance back over his shoulder he was horrified to see the truck wheel passing over his wife's leg. Without bringing his wheel to a stop, he jumped to the ground, and, running back, picked up the unconscious woman in over the woman. He ran into the roadway and, grabbing the horse by the bridle, brought nis arms. A great crowd had gathered, and for a time all traffic at that point was blocked. The crowd was wild with excitement, and every one then thought Mrs. Shipman was dead Mr. Shipman, who is a tall, powerfully built young man, bore his wife in his arms to the rooms of the Tenth Assembly District Tammany Club at 300 East Fourteenth street. Restoratives were applied and Mrs. Shipwas unable to arise. An ambulance was summoned from Bellevue Hospital. The physician in charge found that besides the wound on the head Mrs. Shipman had a severe bruise on the right thigh, and there were evidences of a fracture of the right ankle and of interna injuries. She was placed in the ambulance and Mr. Shipman mounted to the seat in the rear with the doctor and was driven with her to Belle vue Hospital. At the hospital Mrs. Shipman expressed a wish to be driven directly to her home in Lenox avenue, so that her brother, Dr. Mooney of 18 West 129th street, might take care of her. Warden O'Rourke was called and he readily granted her request

Donahoe, the driver of the truck, was arrested and locked up in the East Fifth street station. He said he was 27 years old and that he was employed by the Union Square Express Company, one of whose trucks he was driving at the time the accident occurred. Both bicycles were also brought to the station house. and before he started for home Mr. Ship man went there and made a charge of reckles driving against Donahoe, Upon examining his wife's wheel he discovered that a calendar faced watch with a Berlin iron case was miss. ing from its frame on the handle bar. He said that Mrs. Shipman valued the watch because it had been given to her by her uncle, who bought it in Switzerland. A policeman in citizen's dress was sent back to look for the watch, but he could find no trace of it After making the complaint Mr. Shipman rode away on his bicycle. Dr. H. W. Mooney, who is attending Mrs. Shipman, was seen last night at his home, 55 Lenox avenue. He said that her left ankle was badly dislocated, and possibly the bone was broken. She also received a scalp wound four inches long, and a severe contusion of the right thigh. The Doctor said that the injuries, si-though not serious, were very painful and would confine Mrs. Shipman to the house for several weeks. CYCLIST RUN DOWN BY AN AMBULANCE. Paul Simon of 85 First avenue bired a bicycle last night to take a spin through the Park. At Seventieth street and Lexington avenue a Presbyterian Hospital ambulance ran into him and smashed his bicycle. He entered a complaint at the East Sixty-seventh street station house against the driver of the ambulance. Women Bicyclists Parade in Bloomers, Lafayette bicyclists had a parade through the Lafayette section of Jersey City last night. There was a division of twenty women clad in bloomers. The fair riders had their wheels prettily decorated, and each carried a Chinese

NEW JERSEY COPPERHEADS.

One Sald to Have Cleaned Out a Cigni Shop in Franklin. FRANKLIN, N. J., Aug. 12.-A big copperhead snake crawled out this morning from a hole in the sidewalk in front of the cigar store of Charles Smith, and, running into the open door drove Smith and his customers out of the back door. Smith and two young men got some door. Smith and two young men got some clubs and attacked the reptile as it whisked about among the cigar boxes and pails of tobacco behind the counter. After the snake had been killed it proved to be the largest copperhead ever seen in this neighborhood, being, so it is said, over six leet long.

Mr. Victor of Chestnut street had a battle yesterday with a five-foot copperhead that crawled into his washhouse and took possession of the place. Before the reptile could be killed it has spring at Mr. Victor twice, and he barely escaped its fangs.

$10.000 from Albert H. Reynolds of 303 Main street. Cincinnati, O.
Reynolds, who says he is a merchant in Cin-cinnati, met the girl at Coney Island on Satur-day, and did the Bowery resorts with her. They then went to a Brooklyn hotel. When he woke up in the morning the girl was gone; so were his $30 and his promissory note, payable to the National Bank of Las Vegas, New Mexico.

CALLED TO HIS DOOR AND SHOT. Bullet Fired by a Former Employee Wounds Mr. Post's Temple.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Aug. 12.-After the family of eward Post, a resident of Daws, four miles from this village, had retired on Saturday night Mrs. Post heard a knock at the door. She advised Mr. Post not to go to the door, and he vised Mr. I'ost not to go to the door, and he called out, "What do you want?" An answer came, "I want you. Post." Mr. Post went to the door and arrevolver was thrust in his face and fired. Post recognized his assailant to be a negro of the name of Hayward, who had worked for him in 1863. The ball grazed his right temple, making a flesh wound. Hayward was captured yesterday and is in jail.

ST. LOUIS'S MUNICIPAL SCANDAL Contractor Heman Soys He and Others Were Pald to Withhold Bids,

Sr. Louis, Aug. 12. Startling testimony was given at the investigation of Water Commissioner Holman's office this afternoon. August Heman, the contractor, testified under oath that he got $500 for refraining from bidding on certain work, and that Penny & Meyers re-ceived $400 and Claus Veiths $600 for the same consideration.

Mr. Heman swore that a construction company paid him $500 on the condition of his not bidding less than $20,000 on certain work. The work was let to the firm in question.

COUDERT AND JACKSON'S SEAT. The New York Lawyer Has Received No. Offer, but Might Consider One.

Panis, Aug. 12.- Frederic Coudert said in an interview to-day that he had not received any offer of the seat on the Supreme Court beach made vacant by the death of Justice Jackson, From the incidental conversation, however, it was gathered that Mr. Coudert had some reason to expect such an offer, and that he would accept it when it should be made, but in the absence of a tangible offer he was unwilling to say that he would accept it.

Uncle Sam May Sell Land at Newport, Newroner, Aug. 12. Rumor says that the Government will sell a portion of the reservation known as Fort Adams for residence sites, the reason being that a portion of the land now included in the reservation is not necessary under the present ideas of fortification and much other land in the immediate vicinity is greatly desired. The rumor cannot be confirmed here, but it is known that the Government desires to purchase other sites. PRICE TWO CENTS.

NIGHT ALARM IN ACTH STREET, WEST OF FIFTH AVENUE.

BURGLARS IN THE BLOCK.

Shots from the Roof of Isane Englehardt's House-Two Thieves Inside-One Watchman Stood on the Scuttle and Another

Shouted for Police - Escaped by a Window Private watchman Gibson was passing the residence of Isaac Englehart, at 65 West Forty-sixth street, at 10:45 o'clock last night, and saw s light on the second floor. He knew that the amily were out of town. He could not get into the house, and went to 33, occupied by W. H. Stockwell, a real estate lawyer. He got the watchman there, H. Ham-bright, to admit him, saying that there were burglar's in Mr. Englehart's house,

The two watchmen ran to the roof and found that the scuttle at 05 had been pried off. Knowing that the men must be inside, Gibson put back the scuttle and stood on it and told Hambright to run to the front of the roof to call a policeman.

Hambright ran to the front and roused the whole street by his cries for police. At that two men came up the stairs to the roof and tried to lift the scuttle. Failing, they turned back down stairs. Policemen Glenn and Hopper ran up to the front door of 65. Hambright threw his keys to 63 to the street. William A. Tibbetts, watchman for A. Wassermann of 61, picked up the keys and tried to unlock the door of 63. He could not make the keys work, and he and Glenn got in at 61, and Glenn got to the roofs. In the mean time the two thieves had come down to the parlor floor of 65, opened the bay window and jumped into the back yard. As they landed they saw Gibson looking over the edge of the roof at them. One of them fired a pistol at him. Glenn fired two shots at the men, but didn't hit them, and they got away. The whole block was upside down by this time. Half-dressed men were in the street and half-dressed women at the windows. Six more policemen appeared and began to earch the back yards, but up to 1 o'clock this morning had not found the thieves.

The thieves were young men. It is supposed that they came over the roofs from Sixth avenue. They had been in the house long enough to ransack it thoroughly, but they can't have stolen much, for all the portable valuables had been locked up when the family went int the country.

SUPPOSED TO BE THE VALKYBIE. A Sailing Yacht that Passed Cape Race on Last Sunday Evening.

St. John's, Aug. 12.-A sailing yacht, supsed to be the new racer Valkyrie III., passed Cape Race last evening, bound west. If the yacht should prove to be the new cup challenger she has covered about 1,887 miles in fifteen days, or about three-fifths of her journey, as she sailed from Scotland on Saturday, July 27. Gourock is 2,950 miles from New York, and Cape Race, where she was last sighted, about 1,063 miles. As this only gives her an average speed of 125 miles a day, it is her an average speed of 125 miles a day, it is probable that she has encountered head winds all the way and will not reach New York for some days yet.

It takes ocean steamers from three to four days to run to New York from Cape Race. It is hardly probable that Valkyrie III. could cover the distance in less than six days with fair weather, and as she is due on the morning, of Aug. 14, in order to equal the time made by the Vigilant on the occasion of the latter's trip from the other side, she cannot come within about four days of the old cup defender's time.

SAID TO HAVE ROBBED TIFFANY'S. At Tiffany's and Police Headquarters, However, Nothing Is Known of It. TORONTO, Aug. 12,-Thomas Carlyle was arested yesterday on suspicion of having committed several robberies here recently. A clipping from a New York newspaper which told of the robbery of Tiffany's jewelry store by two sneak thieves and a brooch which corresponded with the description of one of the articles stolen were found in his possession. The New York police have been notified.

The New York police say they know nothing of such a robbery at 'Tiffany's, and at Tiffany's yesteriay it was said that they couldn't say there hadn't been such a robbery, but that they thought not.

Floor in the Nick of Time. Residents near Eighth and Henderson streets. Jersey City, were startled at 5 o'clock yesterday morning by a crash. The cast wall of the three-story house at 153 Eighth street had fallen down, bringing with it portions of the furniture of the tenants of each floor. The foundation of the house was undermined by roundation of the house was undermined by the rain flowing under it from trenches dug next door for the stables of the United States Express Company.

John Hoffman lived on the top floor of the house and slept on a cot. A few minutes before the wall fell he went down in the yard. After the dust had cleared away his cot was seen standing less than two inches from the edge of the opening.

Violently Sick After Dinner. NEWPORT, Aug. 12 .- The family of Capt. H. Taylor, U.S. N., President of the War College, are all in bed ill from something they ate for dinner on Saturday night. They include Mrs. Taylor and two daughters. A guest, the Hon. J. D. M'Carty of Baltimore, partook of the same meal and is also ill. All were taken violently sick soon after dinner. They were soon relieved and to-day were materially better.

A Thief Taken Ill in His Cell, Detective Sergeant Vallely and Detective Conon were taking a walk through the Tenderloin last night. At the corner of Thirty-second street and Seventh avenue they came upon a man who looked much like William Horan of Hartford, Conn., whose picture and description had been sent to Headquarters by Chief of Police Ryan of Hartford on Aug. 3, with the statement that he was wanted in the latter city for stealing jewelry.

The detectives took their man to Headquar-ters, and he there admitted his identity, and told where $300 worth of the jewelry might be found.

Horan was locked up at Headquarters, and about 11 o'clock his breathing became so unnaturally heavy that a call was sent to St. Vincent's Hospital. The ambulance surgeon said that the man was afflicted with epilepsy. He was taken to Bellevue a prisoner.

Trolley Kills an Old Man in Newark,

Patrick Brady, an aged lockkeeper employed by the Morris Canal Company at the lock near the plank road bridge over the Passaic in Newark, was killed yesterday afternoon by a trolley car, which had just crossed the bridge while going from Jersey City to Newark. It was car 317, run by Motorman Thomas Dolan, and witnesses of the accident said it was going at ful speed.
